

STATE INCOME TAX VOID SAYS SUPREME COURTDecision Today Holds the Legislature Without Such Powers

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Illinois state income tax law was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court here today in a unanimous decision of the Sangamon county Circuit Court.

Passed by a special session of the 1932 legislature the new state income tax act had been in effect but a short time when the attack on it by Walter Bachrach and others of Chicago stopped collections. Judge Jesse R. Brown declared the act unconstitutional.

It was argued that the act deprived persons of property without due process of law, delegated unconstitutional legislative and judicial powers to the Department of Finance and failed to provide adequate opportunity for hearings of objects.

Terms of the act provided for a graduated tax ranging from one per cent on incomes of $1,000 to six per cent on incomes over $25,000 with exemptions for dependents.

Without Authority
Not only did the decision declare that state income tax law vulnerable in several places, but added that "the Constitution in its present form confers no legislative authority for enactment of the proposed graduated income tax act."

The act was found to violate Section 1 of Article 1 of the state constitution, which requires that property taxes be imposed uniformly; also the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution which allows credit on incomes to non-residents to conform to regulations of laws of their home states.

The additional penalty placed on non residents for failure to file was described in the words of the U. S. Supreme Court as discriminatory and unconstitutional.

Income Is Property
Justice Warren Orr of Carthage wrote the court's opinion. "The word 'property' as used in our constitution," he wrote, "includes income, and income is property. Therefore it necessarily follows that under the constitution of the state all taxes must be levied on property by valuation so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his or their property."

Pointing to the fact that the income tax provides a graduated scale, the opinion said graduation is not valuation, and is not "uniform" as required by the constitution.

Hotel Corp. Wins
The Jacksonville Hotel Building Corporation won its fight to force the Dunlap Hotel Company to execute a lease for the new building it occupies in the seat of Morgan county.

The corporation sued a bill of equity in the Sangamon county Circuit Court after contracting to build a hotel for E. O. and E. S. Perry but upon which they refused to accept delivery because its plans had been changed. Judge A. Clay Williams dismissed the bill but issued a decree of specific performance upon the Dunlap Company which intervened in the case.

Assuming the burdens and claiming the benefits of the stock by contract.

Decision Re-affirmed
Liability of former stockholders of banks that fail was re-affirmed by the court in a second ruling in the case of the Merchants State Bank of Centralia, which reversed the lower court as to Mrs. Martha Barron but affirmed it as to all others.

Mrs. Barron was relieved of any liability. The decision, written by Justice Dunn, said that Robert Barron died two years before the bank closed and had transferred his 40 shares of stock six years before. Any claims against his estate, the opinion held, should have been filed within one year after letters testamentary were issued, following his death.

Section Eleven of the Banking Act providing for enforcement of liabilities of stockholders, the court held does not apply in Mrs. Barron's case.

A transfer of stock, the opinion held gives the purchaser the stock, free of debt.

The debts of the bank are no charge," is said, "or lien upon shares of stock which are transferred. The vendor is liable to the amount of his shares for the debts of the bank accrued during his ownership of the stock up to the time of his transfer."

"The transfer gives the purchaser the shares free of the debts of the corporation. His liability for the bank debts begins with his acquisition of the stock by his transfer, and attaches only in favor of debt accruing only after the transfer to him and during his ownership of the stock."

Justices Heard, Duncan and Jones dissented.

Reversing decision of the St. Clair county Circuit Court, the Supreme Court affirmed an award of $16 for 178 weeks for the widow of Carl Huttmacher, salesman for Swift & Company, fatally injured October 29, 1928 near Hardinsburg, Ind.

Judgment of Judge Arthur W. De Selm directing that 120 acres in possession of Jane Wetmore be sold and partitioned, as asked by Carroll C. Clarke and four others in the Kankakee county Circuit Court was affirmed.

Judge John P. McGorty of the Cook county Criminal Court who fined Thomas J. Reynolds, president of Local 110, Motion Picture Machine Operators Union, $100 for contempt of court in refusing to

SANDOVAL BANK HELD UP THIS NOON BY THREETrio of Robbers Made Getaway With Over $8,000 Today

Sandoval, Ill., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Armed with a machine gun and revolvers, three robbers held up the First National Bank of Sandoval at 11:25 o'clock this morning and escaped in a large black sedan with between $8,000 and $9,000.

No customers were in the bank at the time of the robbery, H. A. Bellamy, the cashier said.

Sandoval is seven miles north of Centralia.

Bellamy said the three men ordered him and Fred Chance, assistant cashier, to "lie on the floor and be good." They then gathered up all the money in sight in the main room of the bank after which they ordered Chance to go with them into the vault where they helped themselves to what they could find.

As they left the building they commanded Bellamy and Chance to remain on the floor or they would shoot through the window.

One of the robbers, the cashier said, wore a light colored overcoat and a light hat and was slim. Another was described as chunky while the third was said to be of medium build and about 30 or 32 years old. All were well dressed.

Authorities believe the robbers drove west out of Sandoval.

This is the second time within recent years that the First National Bank here has been held up. The loss today was covered by insurance the cashier said.

Progressive Mine Meeting Is Barred

Benton, Ill., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Sheriff Browning Robinson said today he would not permit the Progressive Miners union to hold their scheduled meeting at Zeigler near here tomorrow afternoon.

Hand bills which have been distributed announcing the meeting said Claude Percy of Gillespie, president of the new union and Wm. Keck of Belleville, secretary, will speak.

West Frankfort, Ill., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Following an announcement that Progressive Miners will attempt to hold a mass meeting in Zeigler tomorrow, officials here of sub district nine, United Mine Workers of America today issued a warning to all members of the regular union that any member who attends or participates in any way in the meeting will be promptly dealt with under the laws of the parent union.

This is the first attempt of the progressives to gain a foothold in Franklin county since 15,000 pickets were turned back by county authorities and state police in the battle of Mulkeytown two months ago.

O'BRIEN OUT OF RACE; ENDORSES GOVERNOR SMALLIndependent Candidate Says Horner Must Be Defeated

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Len Small had the endorsement tonight of W. W. O'Brien, Chicago criminal attorney, who withdrew from the gubernatorial race in which he was entered as an independent candidate.

O'Brien, in announcing his withdrawal from the race yesterday, requested his followers to support the former Governor and Republican nominee.

His decision to withdraw and support Small, he said, was occasioned by his desire to see "that Mayor Anton J. Cermak (of Chicago) is given no further control of the state of Illinois."

"If the Democratic nominee, Judge Horner, should be elected Governor then there is no doubt in my mind but that Anton Cermak would be the sole boss of the destinies of the state of Illinois," O'Brien declared.

"The fact that Cermak's name appeared on the preferred list of Insull stockholders," O'Brien said, "convince me further x x x he should not have the great power that he is seeking."

SMALL SOUNDS WARNING
Chicago, Oct. 22.—"If the Democrats succeed in gaining control of the state of Illinois, it will be less than two short years until the state treasury and state finances are in the same hopeless condition as those of Chicago and Cook county."

Len Small, former governor, and Republican nominee again for that office, made that statement in a radio address over station WLS. Mr. Small made his address particularly to the farm audience and spoke from the farmer's viewpoint. He related his own experiences of trying to make his Kankakee farm pay its expenses, including taxes.

"Three policies must, in my opinion, be pursued to bring relief to the farm population," Mr. Small said.

FRENCH PRIME MINISTER NOW AT CROSSROADSHerriott's Decision To Pay Interest Starts Talk

Paris, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Premier Eduard Herriott's government today stood at a crossroads, as the Chamber of Deputies prepared to discuss the entire question of war debts only three days hence.

The close proximity of this discussion, served, as has the criticism in the press in recent days, to bring to focus this point.

Mr. Herriott's government intends to pay the United States $19,261,432 interest on the war debt December 15, when it is due, it must first ask the Chamber to make an appropriation of that amount.

Entangled in this problem is the fact that the government must either levy new taxes to get 7,000,000,000 francs revenue (about $280,000,000) or cut government expenses by that amount, for the Treasury faces that much deficit.

This contrasts with a working surplus of $800,000,000 three years ago, and Finance Minister Louis Germain-Martin had already run into strong parliamentary opposition last June when he proposed rigorous reductions in expenditures.

Just how Mr. Herriott will approach his problem remains problematical, but it is understood a discussion with Great Britain on debts under the recently inaugurated consultative pact between the two nations, may be undertaken.

State Engineer Inspecting Work

Fred Tarrant, of the state Department of Public Works and Buildings at Springfield is in the city inspecting the resurfacing of the brick paving on the Lincoln Highway east of the city. The huge mixing machine which started laying the asphalt and crushed rock resurfacing at Burkett's corner the first of the week, reached the entrance to the Dixon Municipal airport late yesterday afternoon, finishing the south half of the paving. The machine was taken back to the east end of the brick paving where it started operation this morning. Several of Dixon's unemployed are being furnished employment on the resurfacing project.

Slain Gangster Robbers' Driver

Ottawa, Ill.—Ned Hill, alias Ned Hill, 24, who was slain in a gun battle with a Davenport, Ia., policeman, in a holdup October 6, has been positively identified as the driver of the car that carried the bandits to the First National bank of Marseilles, at noon August 16.

Hills drove the bandits away with the $9,200 in cash that they obtained in the holdup.

Identification was made late on Wednesday afternoon after Sheriff E. J. Weller had obtained evidence and a picture of the dead man from the Illinois state reformatory at Pontiac where he was a prisoner from 1926 to 1928.

"PEACEMAKERS" IN FATAL RIOT IN N. Y. PRISONMany Injured Before Police Reserves Restore Order

New York, Oct. 22.—(AP)—One prisoner was killed and many injured today in rioting at the city penitentiary on Welfare Island which started in fighting among "peace makers" in the Warden's office.

Two committees of peace makers had met with the Warden to settle racial animosities which had broken out between Irish and Italian prisoners.

The peace makers suddenly began fighting and George Holshod was stabbed to death. The killing was the signal for general rioting which spread among some 200 prisoners of the 1,662 confined in the institution.

The rioting continued for half an hour before it was quelled and many were injured in the fighting. The riot caused one of the greatest concentrations of police in years, between 600 and 800 policemen, emergency squads, police boats and airplanes being sent to the scene.

REHEARING GRANTED

The Illinois Supreme Court has granted a rehearing in the proposed street widening project according to word received here this morning, and the case is expected to be docketed on the next term of court.

Attorneys H. C. Warner and E. E. Wingert appear for the objectors who maintain that the improvement would be more damaging to properties in the business district than a benefit as set forth by the city.

ABOUT STOLEN CARS

The garage at the Omar Drew home, 1009 Galena avenue, was entered during the night and a 1926 model sedan taken away. The theft was reported to the police this morning about 4 o'clock when the loss of the car was first discovered.

An old model sedan which was stolen from the streets of LaSalle Thursday night was found abandoned near West Brooklyn yesterday and was returned to its owner. A sedan belonging to Miss Lolita Koehler of West Brooklyn was taken from the garage and is believed to have been stolen by the same thieves who took the LaSalle car which ran out of gas near the village.

A car belonging to a resident of DeKalb was abandoned on the Lincoln Highway near Ashton early yesterday and was reclaimed by the owner later in the day.

As shown today in the third report from the corporation to the Congress, over $95,604,000 in advances have been made. This embraces nearly $44,000,000 in bank and trust companies and over $218,670,000 to railroads, and does not include loans that have been repaid.

The Secretary of Agriculture had left with the corporation as of September thirtieth $35,079,000 of the allocated crop production fund.

Loans authorized during September to banks and trust companies, "exclusive of amounts with drawn or cancelled" during the month, were listed to include the following in Illinois:

HOOVER BACKS PROTECTION OF PRESENT TARIFFTells Cheering Miners Of West Virginia Of New Plans

Washington, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Chairman Robert L. O'Brien said today the Tariff Commission would meet within a few days to take up the request of President Hoover that it investigate whole tariff schedules.

The Chief Executive called him to the White House yesterday, he said, and requested that the commission "give serious consideration and focus its attention" on determining whether American tariffs were adequate for protection against import from countries which have depreciated currencies.

The chairman was unable to say the method by which the commission would go about the investigation, or the time it would take. This was to have to be worked out, he said, in drafting the program for the survey.

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Speaking from an improvised platform in Laidley Stadium at Charleston, W. Va., President Hoover announced today he had asked the Tariff Commission to investigate whole tariff schedules to determine whether any commodities were being given adequate protection "in the face of depreciated foreign currency."

The President left his special train bearing him to Detroit for a campaign speech tonight in order to discuss the tariff and difficulties of the coal industry before a cheering audience of thousands at Charleston, W. Va., Capital.

He advocated limited co-operation in marketing coal and other natural resources to safeguard them from destructive competition.

Mr. Hoover was the first President to visit this Capital city during his term in office, since Andrew Jackson in 1832.

Mr. Hoover told his cheering audience, estimated at thousands by police, that he had in the past suggested some measure of co-operation in the marketing of coal because he was "impressed with the absolute destruction of our national resources and the impoverishment of labor through destructive competition."

To Prevent Destruction
"Neither you nor I wish to destroy the fundamental basis of competition in our country," the President said. "But a limited co-operative action should be undertaken to prevent this destructive action which is being taken. We have already extended this privilege to your agriculture and labor. The coal industry could have such safeguards as would make it possible to pay a fair wage earn reasonable profit and save hundreds of communities from their steady degeneration and impoverishment."

As in his other speeches along the route of campaign trips, the President discussed the Republican protective tariff principles at length.

Text Of Address
The full text of President Hoover's address here today follows:

The Democratic candidate for President has said that he and his party propose to reduce the tariff. He states that the protective tariff is a ghastly jest. That becomes a curious description of the great industrial development of this state.

Right here the Kanawha valley, once a wilderness, has become the great chemical center of our country. That industry would never have been created except by the protective tariff. And it cannot survive today and the people obtaining their daily bread from it could not continue their jobs if the tariff be reduced.

The protective tariff made possible all the plants in this valley and the employment in them. That great American policy, adopted and defended by the Republican party, has also made possible the steel, glass and pottery industries in this state. All these plants are today the backbone of your employment and business. They give the market for your agriculture. They will continue to do so for generations unless they are destroyed by this promised action of the Democratic party.

Tariffs Impaired
Due to depreciated currencies in foreign countries, the tariffs have been seriously impaired lately in a number of commodities. The depreciation in currency in foreign countries has in effect lowered wages and lowered standards of living in those countries.

Four years ago I directed a survey to be made of the cost of living amongst workers in foreign countries, using as a common denominator the amount of bread and butter that could be purchased at retail with a workman's wages in each country. I found that in the highest wage countries they could purchase about 1-2 as much bread and butter with current wages as could be purchased by the workman in the United States in comparable jobs, and I found that in the countries of lowest wages they could purchase with their wages about 1-2 of the amount of bread and butter that could be purchased by the American workman.

Situation Resurveyed
Recently I had this situation surveyed in view of depreciated currencies. I found that in the highest paid countries, instead of being able to purchase 1-2 as much bread and butter as an American workman, they could only purchase 1-3 as much and in the countries of lowest standards of living, in-

MIX AND TONY FALL IN JUMP: ACTOR INJUREDDaredevil Of Movies Badly Hurt: Horse Was Unharmd

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Daredevil tactics of Tom Mix, and his famous horse, "Tony," to satisfy the appetites for action of film fans have brought serious injuries to the 52-year-old veteran motion picture cowboy for the third time in less than five years.

In an attempt to enact one of the spectacular stunts with which Mix and his noted mount have thrilled screen fans for a decade, Mix and Tony spilled yesterday near Lone Pine, Calif., in the mountains 150 miles northeast of here.

Tony was unable to negotiate a 5 foot embankment down which Mix had ridden at breakneck speed. Mix was catapulted over the horse's head and was buried beneath Tony's heavy body. Unconscious and bleeding from the mouth, the actor was taken to a nearby farmhouse where a physician administered emergency treatment.

He was placed under observation for possible internal injuries after he had been removed to a hotel where he regained consciousness several hours later. The horse escaped injury. Physicians said they believed Mix suffered a concussion of the brain and a wrenched right leg. One side of his body was a mass of bruises.

Auto Manufacturer Supporting Hoover
East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 22 (AP)—John W. Wyllys, automobile manufacturer and former United States Ambassador to Poland, speaking before the Illinois Manufacturers' Association here last night in behalf of the Republican administration, urged the re-election of President Hoover and said his rehabilitation program would "bring back to us peace, prosperity and happiness."

Wyllys made a plea that the "forgotten word—economy" be considered and advocated a higher tariff as a means of combating economic conditions.

Phil S. Hanna, editor of Chicago, who also spoke, discussing present rates of taxation, said "no nation can live, much less prosper under these conditions, and the disproportion between taxes and income is a fair measure in degree of the job ahead of us." He termed the government "the star boarders in every family."

Former Mendotan Died In Michigan
Mendota, Ill.—Samuel McCormick, 60, for many years a resident of this locality, died at his home in Menominee, Mich., Wednesday night, following a several months illness, the past week in which he had been in a semi-conscious condition.

He was born in this locality a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCormick and followed the occupation of farming all of his life. He with his family moved from this locality several years ago. He is survived by his wife, three children, three brothers, Attorney James V. McCormick, Salem, N. Dak., Charles, Lido, Cal., and George McCormick of Mendota and one sister, Mrs. Edna Babcock, of Galva, Iowa. A sister, Mrs. Bert Chandler, Coatsburg, Ill., died about three months ago.

The funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Menominee with burial in that city.

Old Ironsides Is Now In 136th Year
Washington, Oct. 22.—(AP)—And the revived and fiery memories of old Ironsides, the ship that enters her 136th year today, resting gently at her berth in the peaceful waters of the Potomac.

In her stout oaken sides lies wrapped the history of the country whose Capitol stands just a few short blocks from the Navy Yard wharf to which the old frigate—known officially as the "Constitution"—is moored.

Bits of her history were recalled yesterday by naval officers who joined in commemorating the 136th anniversary of her launching at Hart's shipyard in Boston. The tribute was broadcast.

In her cabin the treaty of peace was signed with the Barbary pirates on June 3, 1805. This ceremony was one of the first of many highlight dates for the sturdy boat.

DENY HORNER'S CLAIM THAT A. L. ENDORSED HIM

Grand Chef de Gare Of 40 And 8 Issues A Strong Denial

George Sugarman, one of the leading war veterans of Illinois, has condemned the management of Henry Horner's campaign for Governor, and Horner himself, for using the name of the American Legion in an effort to obtain the votes of World War veterans. Sugarman is Grand Chef de Gare of the 40 and 8 of Illinois, and is prominent in Legion affairs. In a radio speech over station WMAQ he said: "At the outset, permit me to correct an erroneous impression. 'There has been a great deal said, by not only the Democratic candidate for Governor, but by those veterans who are supporting him, that the Democratic party is not injecting into this campaign that splendid body known as the American Legion. 'At Meredosia, Illinois, the Democratic candidate for Governor stated that he was proud of the fact that the Legion was keeping out of politics, yet, the committee handling the campaign for the Democratic candidate, has issued a pamphlet in which it is stated that the American Legion has named the so-called Horner's Plan as a great benefit. 'The American Legion has never endorsed this plan or any other so-called plan, and I respectfully refer this committee and the Democratic service men to the issue of the American Legion Monthly of August 1932, in which there is stated the rights and benefits conferred upon veterans of Illinois, in which there is enumerated fourteen pieces of legislation and no reference at all is made to any Horner Plan. 'Every bit of legislation so enumerated was passed during the administration of Len Small. 'I say, on behalf of the Republican veterans, that we are not injecting the American Legion into politics, but that the Democratic party is exploiting the name of that splendid organization. 'Mr. Sugarman declared that Horner has been going around the state making misleading statements about taxes and tax rates, particularly in reference to the tax rate when Len Small was Governor. He pointed out that 5 cents of the 30 cent rate during the last two years of Small's administration was for retirement of veterans' bonus bonds. When he attacks the tax rate, he is attacking the payment of the bonus to 267,537 war veterans," Sugarman said.

FROM SPORTSMEN

"Tony Cernak apparently has objects in organizing his Judge Horner Sportsmen's Conservation League," declared Josiah Trehanne, of Joliet, a leader in Isak Walton League circles and known far and wide among the outdoor folk as "SI." "In the first place, he wants another window front for Horner. In the second place, and far more reaching, he wants to place the control of the State Department of Conservation in the hands of a few men of extreme wealth. What will this mean to the 400,000 Illinois hunters who can't afford their own shooting grounds and who haven't the money to join the millionaire hunt clubs? What will this mean to the thousands of Illinois River fishermen whose sole support for their wives and children is the catching and sale of commercial fish. That this Judge Horner Sportsmen's Conservation League is only another window front to catch votes for Tony's candidate for Governor is proved by a visit to the state headquarters in the Goddard Building in Chicago. A desk, a chair, a lady attendant. That's all. No literature on the important aspects of conservation. No enthusiastic outdoor sportsmen working to secure genuine conservation. Only a scheme to catch votes. 'So far as we have been able to see from what little publicity Tony has permitted to dribble out concerning his hand-picked Sportsmen's Conservation League, a few men of great wealth who belong to millionaire shooting clubs are back of the organization. They do not in any sense represent the great body of hunters and fishermen and outdoor nature lovers of Illinois. Why, more than 800,000 fishing and hunting licenses are granted in Illinois every year. A very slight portion of one per cent of them are issued to the millionaire shooting clubs. 'On the other hand there is the great, statewide, honest-to-goodness conservation movement of the Illinois Outdoor Conservation Committee. That Committee invites study of the conservation record of the Republican Party providing for the establishment of six game and forest preserves and public recreation grounds of nearly 10,000 acres, three game farms of over 300 acres, and eight fish hatcheries, all paid for out of hunting and fishing licenses without one cent of direct taxation of the people. The Illinois Outdoor Conservation are appealing to the voters to support the Republican State ticket on November 8th, to insure a continuation of this program to provide for the three million children of Illinois who cannot vote, an opportunity to enjoy healthful outdoor recreation, and to leave to the children of the future a plentiful supply of fish and game and an Illinois that has some of the natural beauties of forest, songbirds and wild flowers that our grandfathers found when they came here."

self if elected to recommend legislation for re-financing the farm mortgages and "scaling down the amortization installments of Federal Land Bank borrowers." This pledge was advanced at St. Louis as part of a detailed review of the nation's credit situation and a statement of "what the Democratic party proposes to do about it." Gov. Roosevelt took the administration to task for the losses suffered by investors in foreign bonds and in domestic financial debacles, such as the Insull public utilities collapse. HOOVER BACKS PROTECTION OF PRESENT TARIFF stead of purchasing 1-3 as much they could only purchase 1-8 as much. In the face of this Democratic party promises to reduce your tariffs. In the fact of this I have asked the Tariff Commission to re-investigate the whole rates on many commodities to see whether the tariff is giving the protection provided in the law. And now the Democratic party promises to destroy the effectiveness of the Tariff Commission. That is a bi-partisan body directed upon application of any substantial person to investigate and determine what is the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, and to report their recommendations to the President for any change in the tariff. The President makes these changes effective by executive order. Means Log-Rolling The Democratic party proposes to take away this power of recommendation to the President, reduce the commission to a statistical body reporting to Congress. This effective authority of the Tariff Commission was secured by me through the help of the Senator from your state in the last tariff bill. To take that authority away means to take away the ability to change the tariff with changing tides of economic life. It means that no remedy may be had except by action of Congress which means the old scenes of log rolling, greed and compromise, with stagnation of business for years before final action is arrived at. I have said many times that no tariff bill is perfect but under the commission its inequities can be removed and the rates of duty can be adjusted in the shifting economic situation, schedule by schedule, without disturbance of business and based solely on fact. The reason they wish to destroy this independent authority is obvious. So long as the Tariff Commission holds in this position they do not dare to criticize schedules in the tariff because at once any valid criticism could be promptly answered by investigation and remedy through the commission. But of more importance from this purely political point, the Democratic party would not wish to reduce the tariffs and have the Tariff Commission promptly restore them. In order to attack the tariff they have set up an ingenious hypothesis that it prevents imports into the United States and thereby decreases the ability of foreigners to buy our goods and they say to the American workman that he would produce and sell more goods for export if there were a lower tariff.

Real Market At Home

I call your attention to the fact that 93 per cent of the market for the American workman is within the borders of the United States and seven per cent outside the borders. They propose to place our 93 per cent at the disposal of all countries in the world with the fantastic idea that the American farmer and worker can reduce his standard of living so as to increase his part of the seven per cent, by trade his standards to those of labor which only pay one-third as much bread and butter. They say that the decrease in our exports during this crisis has been due to the retaliatory measures against our tariff. This can be disposed of in the easiest fashion in the world. Two thirds of the goods imported into the United States are on the free list and the decrease in our imports has been just exactly in the same percentage on free goods as it has been on dutiable goods. It must be obvious that some force is working in the world which effects free goods just the same as protected goods.

I could give you still a further answer in the fact that American depression from the same causes that have affected other countries and in about the same amount or even less than other countries. I would also call attention to the fact that since our great measures for recovery have been in free action during the past four months, imports and exports of the United States have increased 23 per cent. If the stories you told are true, that our trade has been destroyed, this increase must come as a great disappointment to the Democratic party. The fact is that foreign trade comprises but a small portion of our national activities. It is a valuable portion of our national activities. It is a valuable portion but when we consider the well being of American homes and families the preponderant safeguard to those families lies in maintaining for them the domestic market of the United States. There is no part of this union where these matters so definitely apply as to this state of West Virginia where the dangers to you and your employment and living are so great by change in our policies.

There is another question of vast interest to the people of West Virginia and one of ranking importance with your agricultural

Friend Of Mrs. W. B. Johnson To Change Politics

Mrs. William B. Johnson of this city has received a letter from a personal friend who lives in Portland, Oregon, which gives some valuable information for those voters who are undecided as to which ticket to support at the coming election or for those who think that the Democrats will help this nation. Mrs. Johnson's friend writes: "Did you hear Hoover's last speech? I thought it was wonderful. When I think of the actual suffering I saw in Vienna—to individuals and business—due to unstable money and political fluctuations, I just grow cold with fear of the Democrats getting in power. I've always been a Democrat before this but now, in this crisis, we need unity and stability above all and I'm for Hoover. If America fails the world crashes."

"It would have surprised you how foreigners value the American dollar. If you paid a waiter he pocketed the dollar and gave him the native money. It was so everywhere. Labor is, I am afraid, wanting anything for a change. The foreign governments are just beginning to have confidence in our stability but with a change in politics they will fear again and begin to withdraw securities and again demand gold payment for everything."

"Well this seems to be a tirade, but it is all so fresh in my mind. We were at one time within two weeks of national ruin—the situation was so terrible and it's just now getting on its feet."

Opposes Monopolies

And I do not wish to be misinterpreted as favoring the repeal of the anti-trust laws. I am opposed to monopolies. I am for the maintenance of the fundamentals of competitive system as the only basis on which progress can be maintained. There can be a degeneration of competition of such destructive order that it becomes of first importance in the maintenance of proper home life amongst our people. We have the statesmanship in the Republican party to solve this question also.

A SLENDOR

THE slopes of the steep bank that flower down to the water were tumultuous with autumn, tremulous yellow of birch, peeling scarlet of maple, rich organ tones of copper beech and gold-branches of oak; spikes of sumac, sturdy and straight as paraded soldiers in red coats and magnificent plumes, stood in stiff, vibrant ranks among the shrill life notes of slender, vermilion fern; one great oak, all burnished bronze and deep, warm russet, shouted with a new voice from the deep undertones of interlaced and embracing pines that had unfolded yesterday subdued the quiet murmur of oak leaves in their "hobbling best of heavier, soldier plumes of perpetual green. The whole gorgeous hillside was one great symphony of sounding, surging color, a marching, changing cavalcade of throbbing color, color that swept over the hillside like a conflagration, an unquenchable conflagration that poured its blazing flood into the lake water, and turned its depths from translucent placidity to an immeasurable splendor of insoluble beauty. A narrow path wound down the slope, twisting between the billowing rows of fern, a path that was like a plow, a harsh, brown plow, plowing a brown furrow through a field of flame, ending at a tiny wharf all quiet in faded browns and bleached grays, an unobtrusive, diminutive wharf that waded out from a flame of blazing bushes, and stood with its reflection going softly down into illusive depths of borrowed color.

More than 200 delegates from Sterling, Rock Falls, Oregon, Dixon, Ashton, Ohio, Yorktown and Clinton, Ia., are expected to attend the all-day convocation of the Rock River Federation of Luther leagues to be held here tomorrow.

The convocation program will be opened in the morning at the Immanuel Lutheran church with the Rev. A. G. Suechting, pastor in charge of a worship service. A banquet will be served at noon in Assembly Park hotel with the Rev. Suechting acting as toastmaster. The banquet program has been announced as follows:

Address of Welcome—Mayor Geo. C. Dixon.
Reply and Address—Andrew Ventler, Dixon.

Address—Arlene Pierson, Yorktown.
Address—The Rev. G. H. Doerman, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Sterling.

Pep Songs—Delegates.
Solo Number—Velma Jacobs, Dixon.

Duet—Orgiesen sisters, Dixon.

At the monument the delegates will be met by Edward Valle, president of the Dixon park board, who will deliver a brief address on "Lincoln's Life in Dixon."

A business session will be held later at the Immanuel Lutheran church, followed by a dinner at Assembly Park hotel. The Rev. Doerman will present an illustrated Bible lecture at the close of the day's program.

Sleep Is Very Vital Beauty Aid

Shakespeare has a lot to say in praise of sound sleep, and every beautician is ready to "yes-yes" Shakespeare.

Now, when you are planning to get your beauty ready for heavy use this winter, don't overlook the necessity of eight or nine hours' sleep each night.

If it is humanly possible, a mid-day nap does wonders for tightened nerves, and frowning faces. There is no reason why housewives should be fretful and frowning by supertime. It is just inefficiency that keeps them from including an hour's nap in the day's schedule.

Business women who can't enjoy a couple of winks of sleep after lunch can make up for it in the following way:

Take one night off each week for complete rest. The best possible plan is to take a bath and get into a pretty negligee and have supper alongside your chaise longue or actually in bed, served on a tray.

Don't consider even saying "good evening" to any member of the family or friends who drop in. It is to be an evening of complete relaxation. Read if you want to, for an hour or so. But try actually to get to sleep by nine o'clock. If you have a hard time getting to sleep try the following measures:

Take a hot bath and stay in it full five minutes, relaxed. Lean back so that all the nerves of your back come in contact with the hot water.

Stretch out flat on your back in bed, without a pillow. Have your arms down at your sides, relaxed. Breathe as slowly, rhythmically and deeply as you can. Try to think of a restful hillside with flowers on it, or grain blowing gently in the wind. Unless you have built up very bad sleep habits, you'll be drifting off before you know it.

Early Fall Hikers

There's nothing like an early autumn day for a brisk hike. If you make it in Girl Scout style and bring the ladder along. These girls have bought fresh milk from a convenient farm house, and their uncooked food is in the pack on one girl's back. Soon it will be sizzling over a wood fire with the whole troop sitting about, mouths watering.

Girl Scouts Of Dixon to Observe Girl Scout Week

Girl Scout Week begins officially on Sunday, October 23. A special field of Scouting will be stressed each day of the ensuing week. The purpose of this week is to bring to the nation's attention the activities learned by girls in Scouting.

Sunday, October 23, is devoted to church attendance. Every Girl Scout is urged to attend the services of her own church. At three o'clock in the afternoon, "Scout's Own," a non-denominational worship, will be held at the Methodist church. Rev. Stansell will deliver a short address on Girl Scouting. All parents and friends are invited to join the Girl Scouts. The promise of Girl Scouts places the first duty of every girl to her God, therefore it is fitting that a day of worship should proceed all else.

To demonstrate to Dixon the activities of their local troops two display windows are being used. A permanent display will be in the window of Sterling's Pharmacy. It is designed to portray the camping life during the summer. The high school troop has planned and arranged this display.

The window of the H. C. Warner building formerly occupied by the Lehman Clothing Store will be decorated daily to portray the activity of each day. On Monday "The Forester Troop" will show the duties of a Girl Scout as a Homemaker.

Tuesday the display will demonstrate Girl Scout proficiency in Handicraft. This will be executed by the Indian Troop.

Wednesday a Thrift demonstration will be arranged by the Gypsy Troop.

Thursday, Troop Loyal, will decorate the window to portray the Girl Scout as a Hostess.

Friday all troops will combine to demonstrate their desire for Community Service.

In the afternoon at the Dixon Public Hospital the Girl Scouts will aid in the sewing being done for worthy mothers and babies.

Saturday, a Rally will be held in Assembly Park from ten until one. Firebuilding and knot tying contests will be on the program.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale
During Girl Scout Week the troops are taking orders for Girl Scout cookies. These cookies are being baked by Beier's Bakery and are being given to the Girl Scouts for the cost of their production. All profit on these orders will go to the troop treasury.

This money will enable the troop to possess equipment, as ropes, song books, manuals, and other materials, that they have done without in the past. Also these sales make it possible for many girls to become registered Scouts who cannot afford the National Fee.

Each Girl Scout is given numbered slips on which the orders taken are written. These orders and the money paid are returned to the Captain. The cookies will be delivered during the week of November 7 to 12.

The Girl Scout Cookie Sale gives everyone an opportunity to increase Girl Scouting without any personal sacrifice. The cookies are priced lower than one ordinarily pays for them. Two dozen cookies will be sold for twenty-five cents. In single dozens they are 15 cents.

The Girl Scouts heartily thank Beier's Bakery for making this sale possible. Also, they wish to express their appreciation to W. H. Coppins of Coppins' Business College for printing the order slips for the Girl Scouts to use.

Prairieville Social Circle With Mrs. Lawrence Book Wednes.

The Prairieville Social Circle was entertained at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Book of Palmyra Wednesday. The fine autumn day brought out a good attendance. Halloween of Coppins' Business College for printing the order slips for the Girl Scouts to use.

New Books At Dixon Library

Valiant Dust—Wren.
The best foreign Legion yarn Major Wren has written since "Beau Geste"—a new adventure romance brimful of action, which captures the true atmosphere of the book that sold over half a million copies.

Beyond the Blue Sierra—Morrow.
This is the old west with all the life that made "Still Jim" and "The Enchanted Canyon" so exciting and colorful. It's historical romance too, breathless and authentic, the story of the fight to open the trail between Mexico and California.

Best Plays of 1931-32—Mantle.
The collection this year contains the following: "Of Thee I Sing," "Reunion in Vienna," "House of Connelly," "The Left Bank" and "The Devil Passes."

Riders Across the Border—Gregory.
The escapades of Rogue Madden on both sides of the border; a breckneck western with plenty of bullets and plenty of laughs.

Beyond Control—Rex Beach.
The veteran fictioneer turns out another with love, mystery and adventure churned together for speed. It's a story about a daring young aviator who, in a constant whirl of activity, can't control his taste for likker. Good entertainment for most anybody's thoughtless moments.

Josephus—Fruchtzwanger.
The recreation of life in Rome, Judea and Alexandria is vivid. The grandeur of the Imperial City, the beauty of the temple in Jerusalem, the loveliness of the wide avenues and splendid palaces of Alexandria are made as real as if they still existed—that reality enhanced by the swarm of real people who fill the scene. In the closing chapters in which the burning of the temple and the final slaughter of the Jews is described, the narrative reaches its high point. Yet the real greatness of the book lies in its complete picture of the man Josephus—a picture that has many modern implications. "Josephus" stands with the really great historical novels.

Wild Horses and Gold—Page.
When word was sent back to the U. S. in 1896 that there was gold in the Klondike, men and whole families rushed forth to risk and often to lose their lives in the mad scramble to reach this almost inaccessible treasure. The men in this book, however, were Wyoming horsewranglers, who had heard that horses were bringing $400 a head in the northern wilderness and decided to take 75 wild horses over 1600 miles of uncharted plains and mountains. They start out bravely with the horses and six mules, and arrive in Dawson in the fall of 1899 with one horse and two mules. This is an authentic tale of that elemental and interesting conflict of man against nature.

For Children Max and Moritz—Busch
Max and Moritz, or adventures of two naughty boys, is a very old and famous German book and has delighted innumerable children since it was first published in 1865. This one has new illustrations and is translated by Christopher Morley. For children 9 and over.

Red People of the Wooded Country—Denning.
Tells of two Indian boys, Otter and Red Deer, who live in birchbark wigwams, race in birchbark canoes and enjoy all the everyday experiences of an Indian tribe. For those 8 and over.

Master Monkey—Mukerji.
Hanuman, the master monkey, is the patron saint of athletics among the Hindus. To every boy he is the symbol of loyalty, valor and strength. The story tells the life and exploits of this half-monkey, half-man. For those 10 and over.

Good Luck, Lieutenant—Carter.
Young Eric Martin, newly commissioned Second Lieutenant of Infantry, joins his regiment in France during the word war, filled with patriotic enthusiasm for the glory of militarism. During the horrible days at the front, some doubts as to the glory of war assail him, but it is not until he is desperately wounded, and the ghosts of his dead comrades seem to rise before him that he realizes what war really is. After the Armistice, he is assigned a place on the peace commission, and in this job he tries to do his bit to teach humanity to avoid the madness of another war. For boys 11 and over.

THE JOB'S THE THING.

The menace of Democratic success in November to those who labor in mill or mine, field or forest, is well recognized.

The menace to the PROFESSIONAL GROUPS, to those who sell services as distinguished from work with the hands, less well recognized, is not less real.

Less vocal, the physician, the dentist, the optician, the architect, the lawyer, have suffered greatly. The better known and the most successful in the big cities have found smaller demand for their services. They have found COLLECTIONS SLOW, almost to the vanishing point.

Meantime, their overhead, the expense of maintaining offices and equipment has remained practically intact. Positions and appearances must be maintained.

The less successful, the men operating in small cities, and the always overworked and underpaid country doctors, have been even harder hit.

Just now these men are beginning to SEE DAYLIGHT AHEAD. Through the operations of the machinery set up by President Hoover, their clients and patients are finding more work. Those at work feel more secure in their employment. There is more confidence and consequently more call for services. Collections are looking up. There is an end to hoarding.

The re-election of President Hoover means continuation and acceleration of these gains as the depression-breaking machinery set up by him develops greater momentum.

The menace to these gains to those who sell service is the possibility, happily remote, of Democratic success, which would act as a brake on the wheels of progress.

In that event the patients and clients of these men will stop, look and listen. They will wish to see what the Democrats will do.

The Democrats can, in the natural order of things, do nothing for many months. At the earliest an extra session cannot be held for five months. Congress once in session can do little before Christmas, 1933. It probably would have done little then.

Meantime, CONFUSION and delay. Again deferring of work. Again deferring of payment for work. Again HOARDING.

Yes, the professional groups, all who sell services, have a REAL STAKE in President Hoover's re-election.

STAGG LEAVES THE FIELD.

That part of the country which is interested in football which is to say, practically everybody—is beyond doubt truly sorry to learn that Alonzo Stagg is in his last season as head coach at the University of Chicago.

Of all the coaches in the land, Stagg is probably the most deeply admired. And the admiration he has won, it seems to us, is of an exceptionally worth-while kind.

Stagg is not famous as a "winning coach." He has turned out some great stars and some great teams, but there are plenty of coaches who have far better winning records. Stagg has won popular affection not so much because of what he can do as because of what he is.

The acclaim that greets him is simply the public's way of showing that it knows him to be an exceptionally fine man to have a bunch of boys under his care every fall, whether he teaches them football or ping-pong. The boast that football "builds character" comes closer to truth in Stagg's case than anywhere else.

When you are a woman you got to have something besides brains to be a taxi driver. Of course you got to have brains, but something else. You know. And I got it.—Miss Leona Mountstevens March, one of New York's three women taxicab drivers.

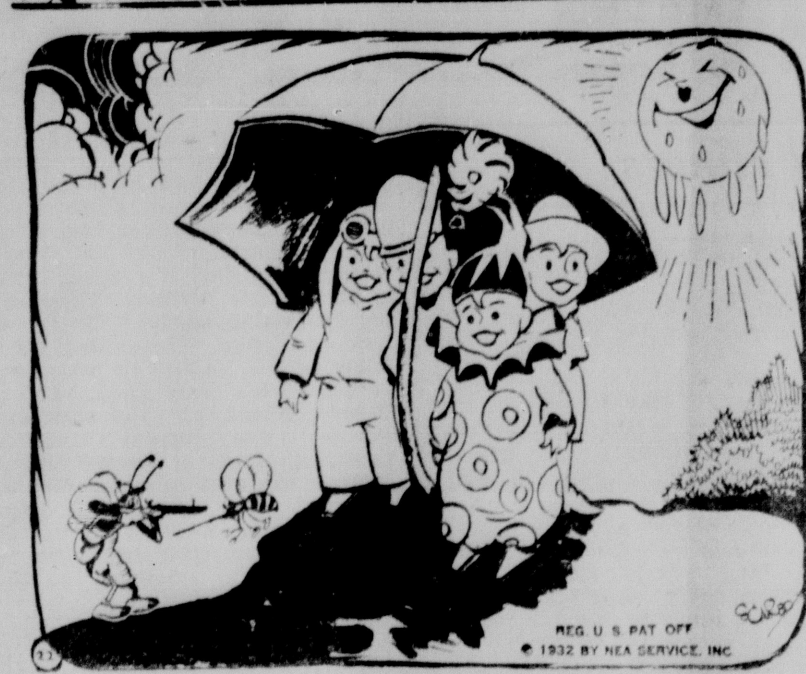

Of the million married women gainfully employed in this country at the present time, 95 per cent are working because of economic necessity and are turning over all their earnings to the family.—Mrs. Florence K. Thacker, Indianapolis attorney and leader of the National Association of Working Women.

Give me enough nails and other small equipment and we'll show the world what railroad building is.—Vladimir Sergeievitch Shatov, former American "woblie" now in charge of Russia's rail construction.

He (Rasputin) was a saint. All the stories of his so-called orgies are just vicious propaganda. People tell of the wrong father did to the tsar. Well, it was our family who tried to rescue the tsar from prison, and we only failed because of the treachery of a certain priest.—Mme Marie Solovieff, daughter of the assassinated monk, Rasputin.

Revolutionists can make no headway against institutions that satisfy human needs, that deal justly with our people, and that derive their authority from the "consent of the governed."—Matthew Woll, vice president, American Federation of Labor.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The broken dumbbell stood real still and one head said, "It is a thrill to know that we are being mended with a bit of paste." "I hope when it is dry and cold that it will very tightly hold." The other head replied, "Gee, then our lives won't go to waste."

"One move will make you twist and then I'm sure that you will break again. Hold still! The sun is drying you. It's shining nice and bright."

Soon Duncy said, "Our wish came true. The dumbbell now is just like new." And then the dumbbell moved around and proved that he was right.

The Tinies danced around in glee until we Coppy shouted, "Gee! The sun is getting very hot. We'd better hide from sight."

They all ran to a bush nearby and then they heard kind Duncy cry, "Hey, change into a big umbrella so we'll have some shade." "I'll pour some magic oil on you." He did, and when the trick was through, a big umbrella came in sight. A shelter thus was made.

And then all of a sudden they began to shrink and fade away. They lost their little faces and their arms, and then their feet. They soon rolled down beside some rocks. "We'll put them back into the box," said Windy, "That's where they belong. There's nothing else to do."

The Scouty answered, "That's all right, but let's stay here while it's so bright. If we leave the umbrella we will be shrunk up, too." Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.

The Tinies have more fun with the mysterious box in the next story.

Obituary
Mrs. Bessie Marie Nass the oldest daughter of August and Catherine Reinhardt, a life long resident of Bradford township, passed away at the home of her parents at this place Sunday afternoon at five o'clock, after an illness of several months duration.

She became associated with the Lutheran church when soon after her birth her parents had her baptized in the name of God. At the age of 14 years she, after a thorough course of instruction in the chief doctrines of Holy Scripture, was confirmed by the sainted pastor, Stauffenberg, by which rite she became a communicant member of the church, remaining true to its teachings until the end.

On February 27, 1927, she was united in marriage with Oscar Nass of Ashton. This union was blessed with one daughter, who survives her mother.

Mrs. Nass was a woman of good health until about 18 years ago at which time she had to submit to a gaiter operation which proved successful. Since then she enjoyed fair health until about six months ago when she began suffering from gall trouble. Though she was under constant care of a physician she was able to perform her household duties until several weeks ago when she became bedfast. We all hoped she would recover, but her condition grew worse until the Lord called her home through a peaceful death, at the age of 40 years, one month and 18 days.

Those who survive and mourn her passing are as follows: her husband, her daughter, Ethel, at home, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Reinhardt, one sister, Mrs. Elsie Gleim all of this place and a large circle of relatives and a host of friends.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the St. John's Lutheran church in Ashton, the pastor, Rev. F. W. Henke officiating. Burial was made in the Ashton cemetery.

The first meeting of the Music Club will be on Thursday evening October 27th, in the school house. The program will be furnished from the school, mostly, but will also include numbers from the Community. A complete program will appear in these columns."Good Music"
Too often today the child hears the so-called "modern, popular or jazz music" (from the dance and cabaret) over the radio in much larger amount than the real, true, intellectual type of music, and without thinking or knowing, he learns to depend upon this cheap type of musical entertainment. He looks with a sort of disdain or fear upon any other type being introduced saying, "We don't like the other kind of music." Is it any wonder? They do not know the other type.

Just what do we mean by "good music"? We all know that there are compositions which we are sure are good, and those we are sure are bad, but there are compositions about the value of which we are not sure at all. Suppose we consider certain features of music. In good music we find (1) perfect logical sense, (2) it must make its points strongly, (3) it must be concise.

We may teach our pupils to sing perfectly at sight in the school, but if they are going to be content for the rest of their lives to sing rubbish it profits them nothing. There is something degrading for us in the toleration of music the literary counterpart of which would never pass "muster" in any other department of our intellectual life. "The man who likes cheap painting, or cheap fiction, or cheap music is not so good a citizen as he who loves the best, tolerates the second best and detests the weak and foolish, or the deliberately commonplace, made to sell."

The chief concern of all music education is the cultivation of discrimination. The process naturally starts with the teacher and the school; unless he has good taste in music, unless he can discriminate between the good and bad in music, he has absolutely no right to teach the subject. He is doing himself an injustice, and he is giving the children something which is much worse than no instruction at all. Our music must stand the test of time, constant use and constant repetition. Otherwise, it is not merely worthless, but worse than worthless—it is BAD! Our market today is flooded with music which isn't worth the paper it is written on. American teachers were the first teachers in the world to make the start to better music in the schools and we must keep the advance.

MORE LIGHT TO BE SHED ON THE GRIDIRON TITLE

Many Important Football Games Are On To-day's Schedule

New York, Oct. 22—(AP)—Another brilliant array of football battles today promised to shed a little more light on the nation's sectional championship races, particularly in the far west, midwest and east.

At Palo Alto, Stanford and Southern California were locked in a struggle this, in all probability carried with it the Pacific Coast Conference championship. A crowd of close to 80,000 was expected for this duel of traditional rivals with Stanford favored to win for the first time since 1926.

Purdue, co-favorite with Michigan for the Big Ten title, bumped into its biggest test of the conference season in the clash with Northwestern's aroused Wildcats at Evanston. Michigan anticipated less trouble from Bob Zuppke's Illinois outfit.

In Eastern Field Headlining the eastern program from a strictly championship standpoint, was the fray between Colgate and New York University, both undefeated and tied in the Yankee Stadium; but there were other important games involving the title hopes of Pittsburgh, Harvard, Fordham and Army.

The southern program lost much of its championship aspect because Tennessee, heir-apparent to the conference title, deployed against non-conference opposition in Maryland. However, two other defeated leaders, Kentucky and Virginia Poly were matched at Blacksburg, Va.; Auburn's undefeated eleven clashed with Tulane; Vanderbilt played Georgia. North Carolina battled Georgia Tech and Florida played North Carolina State.

Inter-sectional duels between Pitt and Ohio State, Michigan State and Fordham, Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame and Boston College and Marquette added spice to the eastern and mid-western states.

Yale Meets Army Army deployed against Yale, Harvard played Dartmouth, and Princeton took on Navy in big eastern games and the Big Ten program was completed by the meetings of Minnesota and Iowa, and Chicago and Indiana.

A full slate of Big Six six contests brought together Nebraska and Kansas; Missouri and Iowa State, and Oklahoma and Kansas State while the Southwest Conference featured Texas battling undefeated Baylor and Texas A. & M. meeting Baylor. Arkansas and Louisiana State and Southern Methodist stacked up against the gentlemen of Centenary.

While the Southern California-Stanford duel dominated the west coast program there were conference meetings also between California and Washington, Oregon State and Washington State, and Oregon and Idaho.

Colorado University and the Colorado Aggies were paired off against one another in the most important game of the Rocky Mountain Conference although Wyoming, so far undefeated in the conference, faced Colorado College.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 22—(AP)—The Williams system of football, as exemplified by the teams of two of that mentor's former proteges, will furnish the homecoming spectacle today when the University of Minnesota and the University of Iowa clash at 2 P. M.

Oskio, Iowa, Iowa Coach, and Bernie Bierman, the Minnesota mentor played under Dr. Harry L. Williams at Minnesota.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 22—(AP)—The football eleven of Army and Yale met in the Yale Bowl today in a renewal of one of the most colorful rivalries in the east.

Army, nosed out by Pittsburgh in a sensational clash last week, started a heavy favorite over Yale which already has been tied by Chicago and Bates and beaten by Brown. Of the 31 games the teams have played, Yale has won 18 and Army five with eight ties. Both the 1931 and 1930 duels were drawn battles.

Chicago, Oct. 22—(AP)—With high hopes of regaining some of its lost Western Conference football prestige, the University of Chicago faced Indiana's hustling Hoosiers in its first Big Ten test of the season at Stagg Field today.

Because of its triumph over Iowa and a tie with Ohio State, Indiana ruled favorite, but the Maroons, with something approaching power for the first time in eight years, were primed for a big effort to open up with a victory.

Indiana faced the battle still in the championship race, but with a tie on its record, needed a victory to remain among the elite.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 22—(AP)—If the ever was a real grudge football game, it was due for settlement today as Northwestern sought to tumble Purdue's Western Conference championship dreams at Dyche Stadium.

It all went back to that charity game a year ago when the Boilermakers, already defeated by Wisconsin, dealt Northwestern its only defeat and grabbed a share on the title along with the Wildcats and Michigan.

The shoe was on the other foot today, however. Northwestern already had been beaten by Michigan, while Purdue was victorious in its two conference battles with Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

It hasn't been two years since Tommy Loughran fought Max Baer in New York, and on the same card the obscure Stanley A. Poreda boxed a fellow named Walter Cobb in one of the preliminaries.

Now Poreda stepping up gradually to top-ranking among the heavyweights, brushes Loughran aside with a decisive victory in ten rounds in Loughran's home town.

All that goes up, in boxing, must come down. Gene Tunney fought a preliminary bout to the Dempsey-Carpenter Battle of the Century at Boyle's Thirty Acres. A couple of years later he was given a decision over Dempsey.

HE WANTED TUNNEY—It was Loughran's dream to fight Gene Tunney. He declared Tunney was a "mechanical fighter and that is the kind of a fighter I can lick."

Oh, yes, there was something else between the pair, too. Loughran and Tunney met in an eight-round bout something like ten years ago. Loughran was not more than a middleweight then, but he gave Gene as good as he sent. Tunney did floor him in the first round, but Loughran came back to outwit him.

RETIRED COURTESY—Years later, when Tunney was training at Speculator, New York, for his final bout—with Tom Heeney—Loughran motored from Philadelphia to watch him train. The night before, Loughran had fought Pete Latzo, and the boy from the mines had opened up a nasty cut over Tommy's eye.

Tunney peered critically at Loughran's eye as the two shook hands. Then said Gene, rather crisply:

"You know, Tom, for a man who's supposed to be as clever as you are, you get cut up quite a lot."

Tom reddened and replied: "If you defended your championship as much as I do mine, you'd probably get cut up too!"

phere around Notre Dame for the first time of the season today as Notre Dame awaited Carnegie Tech.

Notre Dame had played two games, mauling Haskell Institute and Drake in unmerciful fashion, but Carnegie Tech marked the opening of real competition. The Irish appeared to be a cinch, but there were memories of what happened in two other meetings with Carnegie Tech.

Coach Hunk Anderson had given out the word that no mercy would be shown by Notre Dame, and Advisory Coach Wally Steffen of Carnegie, hinted at a surprise.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 22—(AP)—A football rivalry that dates back to 1898 will be renewed today when University of Michigan meet for the eighteenth time.

Coach Bob Zuppke refused to predict a victory for his team, and in pre-game statements matched injury for injury with Coach Harry Kipke of the Wolverines.

Zuppke said he had left Alfred Bodman, his top-notch lineman at home and that Frink and Vanmeter, his first-string ends, would be unable to play.

Coach Kipke, however, called himself "the most worried man in Ann Arbor" about the shifts he must make in his line-up because of injuries to Jack Heston and Stan Fey, first-string backfield men. He said he probably would experiment with Ted Petoskey, a high class end, at fullback, and use Regazzi and Everhardus at the halves.

Grins From The Gridiron

By O. W. "RED" SEVERENCE

Coach Ray Morrison's Southern Methodists were leading 50 to 7 in the annual game with Arkansas in 1931 and almost all of the Texas players were having a Roman holiday piling up the score on their weaker opponents.

Almost all for Red Jackson, big Irish tackle was having a great deal of difficulty with the Arkansas guard playing against him.

Scraping for every inch, the guard was giving "Red" the fight of his life.

Finally as the teams lined up for another play, "Red" asked in a disgusted tone, "Say, what's the idea of playing so hard? We already have beaten you so bad you haven't got a chance to win."

"I know it," the guard replied. "But I'm trying to make the Arkansas first team."

"Well, Buddy," was Red's comment. "I'm trying to make the S. M. U. first team, too, so ease up a bit and maybe both of us can make the grade."

St. Mary's-Sacred Heart Community high school of Sterling defeated Morrison high Friday afternoon at Sterling, 18 to 0. The Community high team will meet Sterling township high next Friday in an intracity game.

Dogs are allowed to roam free and rats are chained up in French Indo-China. There the women wear trousers and men skirts; children are given numbers instead of names.

Which was giving James Joseph just about as good as he sent, in consideration of the fact that Tunney had hand-picked poor old Tom Heeney as a fit guinea pig upon which to demonstrate his questioned talents before retiring.

HE FOUGHT 'EM ALL—Loughran, indeed, was a fighting champion. He broke all the union rules of the Cauliflower Guild by fighting anyone who came along. He has met the best and toughest men in his division, and has gone out of his way to take on heavier and ostensibly tougher ones.

From 1925 until 1929 he was unbeatable. From the time that a battler named Ad Stone took a close decision from him in 1925 until he beat Mickey Walker, he fought 36 opponents, and licked every one.

Many of these were formidable foes—Mickey Walker, Johnny Risko, Mike McGuire, Willie L. Stripling, Leo Lomski, Big Boy Peterson, Jack Gross, Georges Carpentier, Pete Latzo, Armand Emanuel, Marty Burke. In that group are boxers, hard punchers, and rugged heavyweights.

THE LOMSKI CLASSIC—The picture we like to keep of Loughran is that of his wonderful comeback against Leo Lomski, several years ago. The Aberdeen Assassin floored him for a count of nine three times in the first round. The third time that Lomski's swishing right connected Loughran went sprawling, almost turning a somersault through the ropes.

For two rounds after that Tommy Loughran actually was out on his feet. A ringside newspaperman said, "He's fighting from memory now." But the old skill remained, and that lightning like Loughran left darted into Lomski's face with destructive regularity during the rest of the 15-round battle.

At the end Lomski was done up. Loughran had overcome the tremendous disadvantage of that first round, and fought his way back to victory.

ROSS IS READY FOR A CRACK AT TONY CANZONERI

Chicago Youngster Is An Easy Winner Over Battalino

Chicago, Oct. 22—(AP)—Barney Ross, 22-year-old Chicago lightweight, has demonstrated that he is just about ripe for a shot at Tony Canzoneri's championship title, by a decisive, workmanlike victory over granite-faced Bat Battalino.

Ross, with less than 40 professional bouts under his belt, gave his demonstration last night in the Chicago Stadium, and earned the unanimous decision of the referee, Tommy Thomas, and the two judges, after ten rounds of courageous battling. The Chicago Jewish youngster proved himself a far superior boxer, as expected, and even outmailed the iron man from Hartford, Conn., at his favorite style-body punching.

Thomas credited Ross with nine rounds, and the scorecards of the judges attested to the margin. Ross set a terrific pace at the start, stabbing his left hand into Battalino's scarred face almost without interruption during the first two rounds. From there on, as the former featherweight champion warmed up, Ross altered his style to suit the occasion, and added a jolting right cross to the stream of leather he poured in.

Battalino, so courageous as ever, and apparently having one of his good evenings, struck his real pace in the fifth, and for the rest of the distance, marched in, swinging both hands, but only succeeded in making Ross extend himself. At close quarters Barney effectively smothered the Hartford Italian's attack, and in return gave the latter a two-fisted blistering.

While Battalino took a lot of punishment, he never was in danger of going down, although he did find it necessary to hold on briefly in the seventh and tenth rounds. There was action every step of the way, and the decision was satisfactory to the 11,349 spectators, who paid $21.463 at the boxoffice. Although permitted to come in at 138 pounds, Battalino weighed 135½, just a half pound more than Ross.

O'BRIEN OUT OF RACE; ENDORSES GOVERNOR SMALL

Small said. "The first of these must be to increase the demand for farm products to bring higher price levels. Second, there must be a movement to reduce the interest charges on farm mortgages. Third, there must be a substantial reduction in farm taxes."

Need New Markets Concentrated action of federal and state governments should be made in a systematic development of new markets, he said, adding:

"It is my belief that if the liquor laws of our state and government were modified, it would result in a very substantial increase in demand and price for the products that are naturally grown on our farms in Illinois." He declared also that "there are other arguments and conditions that point to the advisability of modifying those laws."

Federal loans to farmers based on reasonable valuations of farm lands at rates approximating the rate which the government pays in obtaining money, were advocated by Mr. Small as the second step.

"The third step in farm relief, which lies in a reduction of taxes can be brought about only by economical Republican administration of state affairs," he said.

'Ignorant Of Farms' The Cermak City Hall in Chicago has nominated a man for governor who knows absolutely nothing about farms, farmers or farm problems, Mr. Small said.

"On taxation, what is the record of the Cermak Democratic machine which nominated my opponent for governor?" Mr. Small asked.

He answered by relating the debacle of public treasury destruction in Chicago and Cook county, which started with the county government while Cermak was still president in name as well as in fact, and ended by quoting a statement by the county board itself, showing the local government to be more than $334,000,000 in debt.

"Practically the only remedy Tony's county board suggests is to consolidate the park districts in Chicago so as to put them under the control and domination of Cermak as Mayor of Chicago," Mr. Small said. "Their argument seems to be that Cermak, as head of the county board wrecked the finances of Cook county, as Mayor of Chicago he wrecked the public treasury of the city, and now, in order to save the situation, Cermak should be given more power to let him wreck still more."

"If my opponent knows as much as he makes believe about reducing taxes and saving the public from bankruptcy he ought to show his boss, Cermak, how to pull Chicago and Cook county out of the mire of insolvency."

State To Rescue "And what has Cermak done? Has he solved a single problem? He has done only this: he has gone down to the legislature and to the state government at Springfield and said: 'You must come to the rescue of Chicago. If you do not come to the rescue, we shall sink into hopeless insolvency and bankruptcy.'"

He sent his candidate for governor down through the state to make speeches about lower taxes, while he himself went to the state government, whose solvency and soundness has been built up under Republican governors, and threw the whole problem of Chicago's insolvency into the lap of the state of Illinois.

The Democratic record has been a record of wrecked and empty public treasuries. If the Democrats succeed in gaining control of the state of Illinois, it will be less than two short years until the state treasury and state finances are in the same hopeless condition as those of Chicago and Cook county."

Village Names Bring Smile To Face Of Stranger

By JAMES H. STREET

Hot Coffee, Miss., Oct. 22—(AP)—This community existed some 50 years before the folks here thought there was anything unusual about its name. And then came a traveling salesman—

He saw a sign on the road "Detour for Hot Coffee" and having heard a lot about the swell coffee that was brewed in Mississippi he hurried his nag the way the sign pointed. His astonishment at finding a town instead of a beverage is still tradition.

However, Hot Coffee was named for hot coffee. J. J. Davis ran an inn here before the war between the states, and horse traders, politicians and drummers from Mobile to Memphis proclaimed his coffee the best in the land. A huge coffee pot was painted on the side of his inn. So the settlement became known as Hot Coffee. It has about 500 homes and a modern little business district now.

Hot Coffee is not the only Mississippi settlement whose name brings a smile from strangers. There are Wynot, Possom Neck, 10 Mile, Yoso and O. K. in this state. Also Haseaway—a settlement named after a wife. Mississippi has a group of counties whose names sound like an Indian war dance—Yalobusha, Tallahatchie, Issaquena, Oktibbeha, Itawamba and Tishomingo.

This state, however, hasn't a corner on the funny name market. Take Florida—at has a Coon, a 57 Mile, Three Sisters, Sonny Boy, Sisters Welcome, Jay Jay and Two Ties. Or North Carolina with its Hog Quarter, Maiden, Matrimony and Red Bug.

Many of the communities are not incorporated and haven't been listed in postal guides, but are bustling settlements nevertheless.

Would Soak Rich $40,000,000,000

Columbus, O., Oct. 21—(AP)—A levy of possibly $40,000,000,000 on the fortunes of the rich was advocated last night by Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the Presidency, as the practical means to readjust economic unbalance.

Addressing a campaign audience Thomas recommended the levy to "take care of the national debt, unemployment relief, and a considerable part of the reduction of municipal and farm debts."

The candidate estimated a levy based on a graduated scale starting at 5 per cent on fortunes in excess of $25,000 an increasing on wealth in the higher brackets, would raise between 46 and 57 billions of dollars. Raising the size of fortunes to be levied upon to a minimum levied upon to $250,000 would provide from 36 to 44 billion dollars, he said.

Indian Chief Wants Drake As His New Wigwam

Chicago, Oct. 22—(AP)—Chief How, medicine man of the Pottawatomies, is looking for a new wigwam.

Judge John Sbarbaro so ruled when the Indian was brought before him.

"What's this all about?" inquired the court of Charles W. Schaub owner of a building in which the Indian has been selling his herbs to the white man, or anyone else having the purchase price.

"It's about this Indian," Schaub replied. "I'd like to get him off the premises. He doesn't pay any rent, and hasn't paid any within the memory of living man."

Chief How raised his hand in a commanding gesture and said:

"I have dwelt many moons among the whites and I have learned that their law is the same as the red man's. If you stay in one spot for long, long time, it is yours. That is the law."

"It is hard," said the court, "but you'll have to find another wigwam. This complainant says he wants to tear his building down."

The white father has spoken," said the red man. "I shall go to a place they have put over the spot where as a boy I played in my father's wigwam. They call it the Drake hotel."

The Drake is an exclusive hostelry on the "Gold Coast."

No government has yet been devised that could make the people prosperous all the time. But a bad government will keep the people constantly in distress.

Things are much worse in other parts of the world. They could be a great deal worse here than they are and they would have been much worse if it had not been for the wisdom, the courage and the leadership of President Hoover.

An independent nation ought to keep within its own control the authority to determine its own revenues and regulate its own commerce. Reciprocal trade agreements which involve our independence on these two vital points.

We are told that by reducing our tariff we can increase our foreign commerce. EVERY FOREIGN NATION WANTS OUR TARIFF REDUCED. No foreign nation wants to increase our commerce.

It is very easy to criticize after the event. Constructive leadership is not so easy. When it is constantly charged that President Hoover lacks leadership I hope I may be pardoned for reference to what appears to be offered in its place.

No constructive program for the revival of industry and for commercial and financial relief was presented by the Democratic party in the last session of Congress.

We have gone through a period when the credit of the nation has been at stake. Under the leadership of President Hoover, calamity was averted and the financial integrity of our Government permanently established.

At the present time the country knows its worst troubles are probably past and economic recovery is beginning.

We have advocated strengthening the position of the employer in order that he might pay better to his employees, enlarge the consumptive capacity of the people and increase the market for the farm and factory.

Since the main causes of our difficulties lay in a failure of credit, the first object should be to restore credit. That is the policy which President Hoover has constantly advocated.

Working for the general run of people is exactly what we should expect from President Hoover because he knows them by being one of them. He was not born to the enjoyment of generations of inherited wealth. He was educated by private tutors. He was never carried into political office by the way of family influence.

If initiating proposals and securing their adoption constitutes leadership, President Hoover is a leader. If saving the country from one impending disaster after another provides any basis for gratitude, President Hoover is entitled to gratitude.

The more this campaign has progressed the more I am convinced that the public welfare requires that he should be re-elected.

Indian Chief Wants Drake As His New Wigwam

Chicago, Oct. 22—(AP)—Chief How, medicine man of the Pottawatomies, is looking for a new wigwam.

Judge John Sbarbaro so ruled when the Indian was brought before him.

"What's this all about?" inquired the court of Charles W. Schaub owner of a building in which the Indian has been selling his herbs to the white man, or anyone else having the purchase price.

"It's about this Indian," Schaub replied. "I'd like to get him off the premises. He doesn't pay any rent, and hasn't paid any within the memory of living man."

Chief How raised his hand in a commanding gesture and said:

"I have dwelt many moons among the whites and I have learned that their law is the same as the red man's. If you stay in one spot for long, long time, it is yours. That is the law."

"It is hard," said the court, "but you'll have to find another wigwam. This complainant says he wants to tear his building down."

The white father has spoken," said the red man. "I shall go to a place they have put over the spot where as a boy I played in my father's wigwam. They call it the Drake hotel."

The Drake is an exclusive hostelry on the "Gold Coast."

BADGER VOTERS MUST BE HAPPY; NO LA FOLLETES

So - Called Progressive Leaders Back The Democrats

Milwaukee Wis., Oct. 22—(AP)—A Wisconsin state political campaign without a LaFollette dominating the proceedings is drawing to a close.

In the September primary Wisconsin surprised the nation and itself, by upsetting the LaFollette Progressive organization.

But, crowded out of the center of the fight, the LaFollette faction is coaching from the sidelines—and shouting for Democratic candidates of national and state political followers say is whether the homeless LaFollette votes are going Republican or Democratic.

Heretofore they have been in the Republican party.

The Progressives are pondering the advice of Senator Robert M. LaFollette, not a candidate this year, who said in a formal statement that there is little to hope from either party but that the Democratic "is the lesser of two evils." He urged support for all Democrats except

NEWS CHURCHES

Sunday, two services were held to dedicate the First Church of Christ Scientist in Dixon, "Not to the Unknown God, but to Him, whom to know aught is life everlasting."

(The First Church of Christ Scientist and Miscellaneous, p. 13.)

The sun shone brightly, the autumn coloring made the landscape beautiful, and many people from surrounding towns gathered together to express their gratitude, that a problem of debt had been solved.

Thirty years ago a small group of people who were students of "Science and Health with Keys to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, assembled in the different homes to read the Christian Science Bible lessons. In September, 1902, a room was rented in which to hold services and in July 1903 the organization of our church occurred. In 1916 land was purchased and in 1924 the membership voted to build a church. In December of the same year the cornerstone was laid and the first service was held, July 1925. It has taken until the present time for the members and friends to pay the indebtedness which had been undertaken and every step of the way has been taken lovingly and honestly grateful for every ill that has been lifted and every heart that has been lifted and we are thankful for this final event.

LEE'S A-M-E MI

Herald From Headquarters Of Herbert Hoover

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Back in 1898, when T. R.—The Roosevelt—was preparing to make history in Cuba, there died near Attica, Kansas, a Union veteran who had been a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln, the first Republican president. Today his tombstone stands in a little graveyard beside Highway No. 160, a few miles west of Attica. In accordance with his dying instructions, it bears this inscription:

N. (Nathaniel) Grigsby, Died April 16, 1898, Age 78. Second Lieutenant, Company G, Tenth Indiana Cavalry, Civil War. Through this inscription I wish to enter my dying protest against what is called the Democratic Party. I have watched it closely since the days of Jackson and know that all misfortunes of our Nation have come to through the so-called party reason.

The Democratic campaign managers went hunting for something to say about their candidate. After considerable thought they managed to get out a handbill setting forth two reasons why they thought the women voters should vote for him.

The first was that he had suffered.

The second was that he was a good father with a happy home life.

A few of the many things which have endeared Herbert Hoover to women voters include:

Saving the children and civilian population of Belgium during the war.

Red Cross and food administration.

His unceasing interest in child welfare work and child welfare legislation.

His successful efforts to obtain home financing to save the homes of American workmen from foreclosure during the present emergency.

A pair of slogans which bring home the President's interest in saving the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Average Man:

SAVE OUR HOMES WITH HOOPER

MORE HOPE WITH HOOPER

Martha Yoh Clarke of Chicago offers a swinging Hoover victory song to the tune of "Gloria, Gloria Hallelujah." Here are several of the verses:

We are arrayed for battle 'Gainst a foe that would receive 'Gainst a foe whose guise of helpfulness

Would make the people believe That only changing leaders would the nation's need relieve, But Hoover marches on.

They would spell-bind 'gainst the tariff With a maze of words that ring, But out of all their talking Not a forcible fact they bring; Tariff, so they tell us, really won't protect a thing, But Hoover marches on.

We're marching to the tramping Of many a million feet, And we lift our voices on the way And words of truth repeat; The man who's in the White House Is the man they cannot beat, For Hoover marches on.

He has led our glorious nation Through a time of peril, dire He has stood for right and duty Though he's had to face the fire Of those who, all unthinking, Vent upon him senseless ire For Hoover marches on.

Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland, the dripping wet who offered himself as presidential candidate at the Democratic convention and was promptly flattened under the Roosevelt steam roller, is touring the middle west in an effort to round up the vote for the Democratic candidate. Mr. Frank R. Kent, of the Baltimore Sun—leading supporter of Gov. Ritchie's nomination campaign—said of prohibition just after the Chicago conventions:

"Actually there is so little difference between the parties now that the fuminations over these planks seem too absurd to continue. It seems fairly certain that long before the campaign ends prohibition will have ceased to be a prominent issue."

"There are only two classes of persons interested in keeping up the controversy during the campaign. One is composed of earnest and well-meaning but not very clear-headed souls—like the angelic Mrs. Sabin—who do not understand. The other embraces the politicians and candidates who are out to catch votes in any way they can be caught."

Mr. Kent should re-classify his friend, Gov. Ritchie, and decide to which category he belongs.

In the same article, Mr. Kent, the Democratic Sun's political expert wrote:

"In effect what the two parties propose is identical. They both propose to repeal the 18th Amendment, which would automatically wipe the Volstead Act off the books. They are both against the saloon. They are both for Federal protection x x x it is true that the Democrats promise immediate modification of the Volstead Act, but that will come just as quickly in a Republican Congress, as every recent liquor vote there shows."

The Republican wets, under the leadership of Senator Hiram Bingham, gave the Democrats a chance to vote for immediate beer in the Senate. In the House of Representatives, under the leadership of Congressman Fred E. Britten, attempted to offer the same change, but were blocked when Speaker Garner, Democratic vice-presidential candidate—refused to recognize the Illinois representatives for that purpose.

If the Democrats won't keep their platform pledges before election, will they keep them after election?

Political Highlights of Week Over The Nation

BY BYRON PRICE

Washington, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The overshadowing status of the country's economic plight—how it came about and how good times can be fully restored—looms larger and larger over the political scene as the campaign attains the full fury of its concluding weeks.

This is one instance in which an issue accepted as paramount by both sides in the very beginning actually became paramount in the more mature utterances of later weeks, and promises to so continue until the end.

To the economic issue, with its many ramifications, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt now are devoting almost exclusive attention. Only a very small percentage of any of their speeches takes notice of anything else.

When they or their principal followers have mentioned the tariff, they have catalogued it in its relation to depression or recovery.

When they have talked of farm relief, or labor, or the budget, or currency, or the soldier bonus, or any of these things, they have put all of these things against the background of the one central question of economic restoration.

This theme has been the burden of Mr. Roosevelt's speeches on his present mid-western and southern swing. He spoke of beer as a revenue source. He repeated his previous statement on the bonus—during a discussion of budget balancing.

The administration's course with respect to the depression will be the burden of Mr. Hoover's speech tonight at Detroit. It was the burden of his shorter talks as he crossed West Virginia and Ohio.

A host of other speakers, including many of the most distinguished men in the country, now are debating the same subject from coast to coast. The issue has taken different forms in different localities, but in its essential character it is the same everywhere.

During the short time remaining—election day is two weeks from next Tuesday—almost every precinct will hear this issue discussed with an intensity seldom exceeded in American history. Alfred E. Smith, Newton D. Baker and Albert C. Ritchie are among those who have come forward for Roosevelt. Henry Ford has spoken for Hoover. Calvin Coolidge has been asked to speak again for him.

Except for the continuing efforts of local political leaders, the territory west of the Mississippi now appears to have passed into the back ground. There still is a possibility that the President will go home to California to vote, but it is a receding possibility.

During the coming week the mid-west will have its last opportunity to see the major figures of the campaign. While the Republican nominee travel to Detroit, possibly makes one later trip to that section, Governor Roosevelt is heading back eastward and southward from St. Louis.

The final episode will take place in the east. Both candidates and some of their principal supporters will be heard during the first week of November in New York and New England. And the burden of their speeches will be the depression and the way out of it.

PLAN FINAL OFFENSIVE

Chicago, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Republican campaign directors today were reported planning a final concentrated offensive during the last week of the campaign on doubtful states of the midwest.

Already, speaking schedules released by Republican headquarters here indicated, the leading actors of the Hoover-Curtis drive are being moved into the midwest, where leaders of both major parties have professed to believe are the votes needed to elect the next President.

Reports were current in Chicago today that considerable pressure would be brought to bear upon Calvin Coolidge to make an address at a Republican rally in Chicago Stadium, scene of the two 1932 political conventions. An invitation already has been tendered to Mr. Coolidge.

Calculation also was plentiful among local Republican groups over the possibility of President Hoover making one more sortie into the midwest. Republican leaders of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and nearby states are known to have urged the President to do so.

Also apparently desirous of putting forth all possible attempts for the million and a half votes in Chicago are local Democratic leaders, as attested by Mayor Anton J. Cermak's hurried trip to New York in quest of the speaking services of Alfred E. Smith. Mayor Cermak failed to get a speaking date from Smith, but did obtain a promise for an appearance here by Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion now turned politician.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—The horses are running now at the nearby Maryland tracks and almost any day you can spot Admiral Cary Grayson in the crowd at Laurel.

For Woodrow Wilson's personal physician, intimate friend and devoted attendant is seldom very far distant when thoroughbreds are running. Bowie, Laurel, Havre De Grace, Belmont, Saratoga—he is a familiar figure at all the tracks. Racing fans look for him at these places. They all know him.

The admiral is retired now and horses have become his hobby. He is widely known in the turf world even though he never has owned more than a few horses.

My Own, who captured the Saratoga cup and was first substitute to Zev when that famous horse beat Papyrus in the international race of 1925, was his. And he bred Sarazen, one of the greatest horses of his time.

LIKES THOROUGHBREDS—The admiral was the same care and scientific accuracy with his horses that he did with his patients while practicing medicine. He has no interest in a horse not a thoroughbred. His stables in the hills of Virginia, near the Capital, house
